REPORT OF SECRETARY JOS. E. POGUE OF THE FAIR 1915.

To the President and Executive Committee of the North Carolina Agricultural Society.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to submit the annual report of the operations of the fifty-fifth North Carolina State Fair, together with such recommendations for your consideration as appear imperative at this time, if the Society is to prove equal to the demands now resting heavily upon it. The one paramount responsibility to its exhibitors, patrons and public generally, is to provide the needed funds with which to erect decent, modern buildings, and provide other facilities at the grounds. Without this we cannot hope to make further progress, or indeed hold our own, as the Fair itself has already completely outgrown the old plant, notwithstanding we have expended within the last five years over twenty-five thousand dollars in the erection of a new concrete Agricultural Building, a Poultry Building, and three large and modern Live Stock Buildings, etc. We have filled them all to overflowing, and yet we are compelled to turn down exhibitors each year for the want of room. The old General Exhibition or Machinery Hall cannot be longer nursed and repaired, as it has reached its limit of endurance and must be torn away to make way for a new building in which to take care of the increasing county exhibits. All the above improvements, as well as maintenance, have been made from the profits of the Fair, through a series of years. But as it seems we cannot increase our receipts under present difficulties, it must be clear to every member of the Committee that the time is here for prompt and earnest action, in the matter of issuing bonds in such amount as to enable the management to deal with the situation intelligently. Without this we must drag along as heretofore, but with prompt and practical action this year, in the matter of providing the needed funds I sincerely believe we can within a very few years double our exhibits and attendance.

I recommend that the Executive Committee be authorized to issue fifty thousand dollars of either first or second mortgage improvement bonds as they may deem best, to run for twenty-five years, and that a special Committee be named with full power to act, in the matter of issuing and placing the bonds at the most favorable rate of interest possible, not to exceed six per cent and that the President be authorized to appoint a Building Committee to investigate and determine how best to expend the proceeds of the bonds.

There are other important improvements demanding attention, such as another Grand Stand, Woman's Building, for the display of woman's handicraft and for art, and for the Better Babies Contest, and other purposes. Additional and better toilet and places for public comfort, and the cindering or paving of main avenues, and other minor betterments can be fairly well accomplished from the proceeds of the bon issue suggested.

The results of the last Fair were the most gratifying in its history, in that all departments were better filled except Live Stock. The shortage of live stock was due to a ruling of the State Veterinarian just before the Fair to the effect that no cattle, sheep, or swine from without the State could be admitted on account of the Foot and Mouth disease. But for the fine exhibit of stock made by our friends within the borders of the State, among whom the largest exhibitors were Mr. Leonard Tufts, Pinehurst, J. S. Carr, Durham, Benahan Cameron, Stagville, G. M. Beavers, Apex, D. L. Farrior, Raleigh, J. J. Jordan, McCullers, R. E. L. Yates, West Raleigh, and others. But for the cancellation of entries already made on our books we would undoubtedly have surpassed last year, which was the largest and best live stock exhibit ever seen at any Fair in the South Atlantic States, even excelling, as I am reliably informed, the great show at the Richmond, Va., State Fair.

In Department A—Field and Garden Crops all records were smashed. We can, with propriety, first mention the famous Sand Hills Exhibit (Mr. Bion H. Butler's first picture flashed upon the canvas), which was unique and novel. This launched a broad gauge challenge to every other section of the State, showing what brains, energy, and skill will do with a soil that nature seemed to have provided for mixing mortar and refilling the traditional Hour Glass of old Father Time, but which is now made the vehicle for the production of Blue Ribbon winners against the best specimens of the favored soil of any other agricultural section of the old "North State". Although they did not, through their great modesty, enter for prize competition at this their first venture at the State Fair, we warn other sections of what the Sand Hills may do at the next State Fair in the way of competing for the agricultural sweep stakes. This exhibit represented parts of three counties at the Fair.

Durham County held the place of honor, being exhaustively representative of that modern and thrifty city and county. This was a high tribute indeed to the influence and popular esteem in which President Parrish is held by all the people of that live community. This exhibit was under the immediate direction of that capable and courtly citizen of Durham, Judge R. H. Sykes. The exhibit, with installation costing many hundreds of dollars entirely at the expense of Durham exhibitors and Durham County, was shown without competition for prizes. The exhibit occupied 6,090 square feet of space or nearly one-third of the total floor space of 17,385 square feet in Machinery Hall, the largest building on the grounds.

Besides Durham County, there were fifteen other counties represented competing for the $700.00 county prizes and the $600.00 individual prizes for the best display from any one farm in North Carolina against five counties in 1914, showing an increase of nearly 400 per cent over last year, due in large measure to the aggressive campaigns of President Parrish and Mr. Butler, the latter of whom went right down after these county displays. The counties were Alamance, Beaufort, Chatham, Cumberland, Durham, Forsyth, Granville, Guilford, Haywood, Hyde, Sand Hills (parts of three counties as I understand), Sampson, New Hanover, Rowan, Wake, and hundreds of miscellaneous exhibits from the State at large. Now if we can secure a suitable new Agricultural Building we ought to have thirty or thirty-five counties represented in 1916.

The State Board of Agriculture excelled itself this year, being more elaborately educational as to detail, showing various kinds of field crops in process of scientific culture, with tables and practical rules as taught by the department by which the largest yields can be produced by intensive farming. This was illustrated in miniature fields, where Commissioner Graham could at almost all times during the Fair be found explaining to farmers and others interested the virtues of these new methods of scientific farming and fertilizing.

The Boys' Corn Contest under Prof. Browne of the A. & M. College was intelligently installed and had the largest number of entries, representing more counties than ever before.

The display made by the Girls' Tomato Clubs of the State under the direction of Mrs. McKimmon was one of the best and most attractive exhibits at the Fair, and again brought home to the minds of the people the importance and value of this new and growing field in the development of the State's vast economic resources.

There was a fairly good display of improved agricultural implements and labor-saving devices, and of those profusion as formerly, due to the decision of the trusts not best adapted to our section of the country, but not in such to exhibit at any of the Fairs, but we look for them to come back this years, as they must advertise if they would head off their smaller rivals.

We had open field plowing demonstrations by several gasoline Tractors and examples of good road making, and other field work with multiple plows cutting six to eight furrows at a time, disc harrows and cultivators doing the work of six to eight horses. These demonstrations naturally appealed to the interest of the farmers and others at all times, when weather permitted.

The Poultry Exhibit was the best ever shown at the Fair, there being 1,450 birds against 900 last year. The North Carolina Boys' and Girls' Poultry Clubs were admitted free of entry fees as an encouragement this year, and they made a splendid showing for the second year. Their entries were over 300 birds from all parts of the State. This department was under the direction of that enthusiastic bird fancier, Mr. Jos. T. Bland of this city, who is showing us how to handle a bird show at the Fair.

The Exhibit in North Carolina Mineral, Building Stones, Metals and Gems under the direction of State Geologist Pratt, was a highly creditable display of the products of North Carolina mines and quarries.

The partial failure of the fruit crop in Western North Carolina was responsible for the comparatively meagre showing in the Department of Horticulture.

In the Merchandise and Manufacturers Department we had the usual creditable display.

In Department L, Education, we had a better display than last year, though there is much to be done in this department before we can point, with any degree of pride, to this exhibit as showing at all adequately the great work that we are doing in this State along this line. With better facilities and more room this department can soon be made to proclaim to the world the advanced position that North Carolina has recently taken in the matter of universal education.

The Better Babies Contest was as usual a unique and popular feature, as well as of great value, and was fully up to the high standard of the last two years; but needs a better location.

Departments E., H. & I., Culinary, Art and Ladies' Fancy

Work, were full to overflowing, but these exhibits can never be made to count for their full value, until they are provided for on the first floor instead of up stairs, where only a small per cent of the visitors ever go; another good reason why we should have adequate modern buildings.

There were hundreds of individual exhibits in the various departments worthy of special mention in this report, but space forbids.

We are greatly indebted to the department directors and superintendents for, upon the promptness and intelligence with which they discharge their important duties depends largely the success of the Fair, after all is made ready for the event.

The public press and transportation companies are indispensable factors in building a great Agricultural Fair, and the Management acknowledges, with sincere thanks, their efficient service and friendly co-operation.

The amusement features and shows were again censored rigidly before permitting them to go on, and I believe we had this year about the cleanest Midway in the country. The show folks have at last come to know that we mean exactly what we say, and hence the strong games and indecent shows stay away from Raleigh.

The twelve experienced gate keepers we secured from the Richmond division of the New York Pinkerton Agency, rendered the very best of service and handled the gates with marked satisfaction to the Fair Management and general public.

Thanks are due and hereby gladly tendered the City and County Officials for their helpful co-operation in all matters where it was possible for them to aid the Management.

A good asphalt-concrete road was built by the Lassiter Construction Company from the city limits to the Fair grounds on the south side of the car track, just before the opening of the Fair. This proved a great boon, as we had three days of rain and the Hillsboro road would have been impassable to the heavy traffic but for the road, and I would strongly recommend here that the Street Car Company be urged to double their tracks to the Fair grounds along this new road. The Society subscribed by order of the Advisory Board toward this work, $500.00 in annual installments of $100.00 for five years.

The Management takes off its hat to the Rotary Club of Raleigh, under whose auspices (with the late Manly Tyree as chairman of the committee), one of the largest and finest Industrial and Floral Parades was brilliantly pulled off on Wednesday of Fair week. Many of the most striking and delicately decorated Floral Floats were unhappily drenched and bedraggled by a down pour of rain on their way to the grounds. We beg to acknowledge with sincere gratitude our real indebtedness to the Rotary Club for this great contribution to the success of the State Fair of 1915. Some of the most striking of this long train of Floats came from our sister town, the live city of Durham.

As shown by Treasurer Denson's report, the total receipts of the Fair of 1915 were $31,523.35, disbursements $25,421.88, which leaves cash in bank of $6,101.47, and we hold the note of the Caraleigh Miss Co. for $2,000.00 (and bills receivable $217.30, making a total of $8,318.77, from which is to be deducted bills payable $1000.00, leaving on hand an available working balance at the beginning of the new fiscal year of $7,318.77. This would seem to be a very satisfactory showing indeed in face of three days rain, and illustrates very forcibly how our people are wedded to the habit of attending their annual State Fair, rain or shine.

ADDENDUM TO SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The State Fair not only drew a capital prize for our thrifty neighbor the city of Durham, in the person of President Parrish, but it drew another capital prize from Durham in the person of that distinguished and fascinating gentleman, Hon. R. O. Everett, who acted as Chief Marshal; and discharged every duty that devolved upon him in a tactful and masterly manner, and it is conceded that the Floral and Industrial Parade under his direction was the biggest and most elaborate thing of its kind ever seen in the State, but the climax of his labors was crowned at the Marshal's Ball on Friday night of Fair week, which was one of the most novel and brilliant social events ever celebrated at the State's capitol.

REPORT OF AUDITING COMMITTEE OF THE NORTH CAROLINA AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY, ON EXAMI-NATION OF BOOKS OF C. B. DENSON, TREASURER.

We find that the Treasurer's books have been properly kept, and that they are correct. The abstract furnished with this showing the receipts and disbursements from January 10th, 1915, to January 11th, 1916, is a correct statement of his books. There is a cash balance of $6,101.47 with bills receivable of $217.30, with bills payable of $1,000, leaving a net balance of $5,318.77. This, with $2,000 due by the Caraleigh Mills, gives $7,318.77 available for future building.

This January 13th, 1916.

NOTE.—The Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of North Carolina, acting on the advice of the State Veterinarian, issued an order prohibiting the shipment of Cattle, Sheep and Swine into the State from any point outside of the State, on account of the danger of introducing the dreaded foot and mouth disease into this State.

The North Carolina Agricultural Society concurred, and co-operated to the fullest extent for the sake of the Animal Industries of the State. Of course this action almost wiped out the Cattle, Sheep and Swine exhibits at the 1915 State Fair. It is hoped and believed that such action will not be necessary in 1916.

In addition to the Egg Show the North Carolina Experiment Station and A. & M. College made an educational poultry exhibit. In addition to over forty non-competitive egg entries, there were thirty birds exhibited which were of good quality and had previously been washed and conditioned by the students.

There was also on demonstration a twelve-egg candler which showed the interior appearance of fresh eggs, stale eggs, and eggs in various stages of incubation.

There was a large display of normal organs and the same affected by various diseases, and suggestions as to how to treat and eradicate these diseases.

There was exhibited various method sof packing eggs and different kinds of containers for shipping eggs either by parcel post or express. There was demonstrated the trap nest and an oat sprouter.

There was demonstrated various types of houses for breeding or laying stock, and the sitting and brooding coop for the sitting hen and her brood.

The classes at the College were given laboratory work in observing colors of eggs the different fowls lay. The educational station exhibit and the over twelve hundred fowls on exhibition furnished an abundance of material for the poultry laboratory classes. The class, breed, and variety were placed on each cage.

A lecture on utility birds was given the students by Judge Newcomer. The breed discussed was the Plymouth Rock. Another lecture was given by Judge D. L. Christian on the Leghorn.

Non-competitive exhibits of eggs were made by the Iredell Test Farm and the Pender Test Farm, at which places the Experiment Station is conducting demonstration and experimental poultry work.
